Executive Summary

Neelakurinji Blooming is one of the most amazing tourism events at Munnar in Idukki district, Kerala. It attracts huge number of local, national and international tourists during every blooming season. This spectacular phenomenon happens only once in twelve years, thus it has got its own novelty which is never ending. Each blooming season witnesses an increase in number of visitors comparing to its previous blooming seasons. After 2006, in this year '2018', Kerala is once again getting ready to extend a warm welcome to this marvelous event which will be having its peak time between the months of July to October. The forest department is expecting a total of 8 lakhs visitors in this Neelakurinji season.

This study was undertaken as per the outcome of the meeting held on 11/10/2017 chaired by Hon. Chief Minister regarding Neelakurinji Blooming Season Preparedness (vide letter no. DM1/76/2017-DMD). The study conducted by Kerala State Disaster Management Authority (KSDMA) mainly focused in identifying and preventing possible hazards which may cast dark shadow over this remarkable event through effective planning and preparedness on department basis.

Approximately 1640 km<sup>2</sup> area was demarcated and selected for conducting this study. The area is highly susceptible to major hazards like Landslides (High & Medium Hazard Zones), Flashfloods, Road accidents, Human animal conflicts etc. Most of the study area comes under high and medium landslide hazard zones; 1.27 km<sup>2</sup> area is identified as flood prone. Even though main roads are not directly affected by floods, roads used by tourists to reach the blooming area can be affected by the floods, mainly Rajakkadu - Poppara road. The area possesses minimum infrastructure facilities which could increase the intensity and frequency of mishaps.

The waterfall in various locations of the study area acts as a key in attracting tourists during monsoon season. The chances for flash flood in these areas are very high which makes this area vulnerable. Narrow and curved roads, inadequate parking facility and huge inflow of vehicles increases the frequency of road accidents.

Human animal conflict is another important threat to the vehicles and tourists. The parking at animal crossing locations and disturbing them increases the attacking tendency of the wild animals. The dumping of waste along the road sides by the street vendors and visitors attracts wild animals to stay nearby the road.

Since this blooming season overlaps with South West Monsoon and huge inflow of tourists, the severity of the hazards may increase if adequate precautions are not taken. This report is prepared to support the district administration and stakeholder departments to come out with their own respective action plans.

Introduction

Idukki district is famous for its numerous hill stations. Munnar, a hill station in Devikulam Taluk is known for its rare flora and fauna. Munnar is situated in the high ranges of Idukki district; having an height of average 2011 meter above Mean Sea Level. Anamudi hills in Munnar are the highest peak in South India (2695 meter). Since long past Munnar has experienced a never-ending inflow of tourists due to its significant bio-diversity and natural aesthetic values. An approximate estimation of visitors every year in Munnar is about 0.6 million.

The Eravikulam National Park is one of the protected areas in the Western Ghats. The National Park is situated 15 kilometres away from Munnar. The park spreads over an area of 97 sq.km which houses the endangered species Nilgiri Tahr. Half of the world population of this species lives in the high ranges of Idukki district. The Eravikulam National Park is divided into three regions – the core area, the buffer area and the tourism area. Visitors are allowed only to the tourism area. The Nilgiri Tahr can be seen at close quarters from here.

Neelakurinji Blooming Season 2018

Munnar is once again going to experience the 'once in every twelve year' wonder in 2018 with the blooming of Neelakurinji Flowers, making the hills turn blue. This spectacular phenomenon can be witnessed between the months of July 2018 and October 2018. The last flowering was reported in 2006. This natural phenomena attracts tourists from round the globe thus the Neelakurinji blooming has got its own social, economic and cultural importance.

Botanists call this phenomenon the blooming of 'Strobilanthes kunthiana', the botanical name of Neelakurinji. Neela in local parlance translates to the colour blue and Kurinji is the local name for the flower.

Since the blooming area is coming completely under the forest Protected Area (PA), overall management of the site seeing facilitation would be done by the Kerala Forest Department. The park authorities are expecting about 0.8 million visitors during this blooming season. Better socio-economic scenario along with the eagerness to witness the rare and spectacular event and wide publicity given by the state are the major factors that contribute towards increase in the visitation volume.

Study Area

The study area is located in the Eravikulam National Park. The area selected for conducting Hazard Vulnerability and Risk Assessment (HVRA) of Neelakuranji blooming season are Devikulam taluk and parts of Idukki taluk and Udubanchola taluk of Idukki district, Kerala. The total study area is 1640.35 sq. Km which lies between latitudes 9° 51' 27" N to 10° 21' 18.6" N and longitudes 76° 46' 13.6" to 77° 16' 26.7"

Anamudi is the highest peak in the study area having an elevation of 2,695 metres above MSL. The study area varies in height from 1,450 meters to 2,695 meters above mean sea level. The temperature ranges between 5 °C and 25 °C in winter and 15 °C and 25 °C in summer. Temperatures as low as -4 °C (25 °F) have been recorded in the study area. Tea is the dominant cultivation in the study area (16277 ha). Coffee and Cardamom are the other major crops.

The average annual temperature in the study area is 19.4 °C and Rainfall 2470 MM. On the basis of rain fall data analysis for the last 32 years, the area receives maximum rainfall in July.

Hazard Profile

The major natural hazards in Idukki district are flood, landslide and earthquake. The study area is also vulnerable to these hazards. Based on climate and topography, the type, intensity and the nature of hazards varies.

From the initial findings and data analysis done for ‘Neelakurinji - Hazard Vulnerability Assessment 2018’, following are the suggestions and recommendations framed for ensuring a better disaster management approach:

- i. All departments shall prepare their action plan and share with SDMA as well as with other concerned departments
- ii. Proper Public Address System (PAS) should be conducted take trial run.
- iii. Forest department with support of SDMA, should make arrangements for installing automated weather station for live monitoring weather. SDMA will provide an Automated Weather Station a UPS for the purpose. Forest Department shall provide power and internet connectivity.
- iv. Night driving should be restricted if the rainfall of the area in 24 hours is above 8 cm.
- v. If the rainfall is above 8 cm in 24 hours, police department should be regulated visitors inflow.
- vi. Hotels should issue safety instructions to tourists at the check-in time itself
- vii. Evacuation routes and safe zones should be identified and demarcated in the field.
- viii. All departments should strictly follow the early warnings and advices issued by the DEOC of Idukki district.
- ix. As the study area receives heavy rainfall and has a slope of above 23 degree, it is risk zone so overcrowding should be regulated.
- x. Restrict the visitors near waterfalls during heavy rainfall as the area is highly prone to landslide and flash floods and specific warning /sign boards can be placed in English and other local languages such as Malayalam, Tamil and Kannada.
- xi. In wild animal crossing points, specific warning/ sign boards can be placed with instructions to be followed like no parking zone or site seeing prohibited area
- xii. For sightseeing, ‘swimming prohibited’ boards shall be placed in reservoirs, roads and boundaries where public can easily notice.
- xiii. Ensure the emergency services at every 10 Km along the roads (At least an ambulance)
- xiv. Make arrangements for estimating the number of visitors to reach Neelakurinji blooming locations.
- xv. Based on the carrying capacity of each location a threshold of number of visitors at a given location may be decided by forest department.
- xvi. District Collector may be given Rs 20 lakhs from SDRF for conducting necessary Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR) preparation related to Neelakurinji blooming season.

Conclusion

Based on the detailed Hazard Vulnerability Assessment conducted in connection with the Neelakurinji blooming season (2018), prevailing vulnerabilities and the possibilities of disasters that would occur in the study area has been examined and has suggested appropriate measures for a better disaster management approach by concerned departments. As per the results obtained, Landslide is the major Hazard identified in the study area as it is having a terrain with slopes of more than 23 degree and adding to this, the area also receives a maximum amount of 3300 mm rainfall in the monsoon season which increases the probability of landslides. Almost the whole study area comes under High and Medium Hazard zones, where 36.20% of the particular region has been included in the High hazard Zone.

As the Neelakurinji blooming season (July to October) overlaps with monsoon season, the possibility of Landslides along with flash flood triggered by heavy rainfall cannot be struck off. Along with this, an expected inflow of around 8 lakh visitors, for this particular season would certainly increase the intensity as well as impact of disasters if any. Even though the possibility of floods in the study area is comparatively low, the areas lying close to Pooppara – Rajakkad road stretch lies within flood prone area thus shows possibility of flood during monsoon period.

In case of an emergency, proper execution of activities like traffic management, crowd management and rendering emergency services will be difficult in the study area due to poor transport system. One of the major roads that pass through the study area is NH 49 (connecting Munnar and Pooppara) which is currently under construction (regarding widening of road), this also increases the possibility of landslides, rock fall and traffic blocks in monsoon season, so these regions need special attention especially during peak tourist season.

Up-to-date forecasts, early warnings, and advisories should be given by and to concerned departments for timely response in case of an emergency situation. Availability of action plans of all concerned departments should be ensured and shared. Thus all disaster management activities should be rendered in a well-coordinated manner.
